Saab Restated Financial Data For New Organisation As Of 1 January 2016

As of 1 January 2016, defence and security company Saab made changes to its business area structure. The former business area Security and Defence Solutions was dissolved and its business units were moved to other business areas within Saab.

The business unit structure was adjusted as follows:

- Traffic Management and Combat Systems and C4I Solutions became business units within business area Electronic Defence Systems.
- Training and Simulation became a business unit within business area Dynamics.
- Critical Systems & Communication Solutions became a business unit within business area Support and Services.
- Business unit Saab Kockums is reported as a standalone operating segment and the Head of Saab Kockums reports to the CEO, but is not part of Group Management.

See attached restated financial data for 2014 and 2015 following the structural changes. The financial data can also be downloaded in excel format at Saabgroup.com/ir.
