Intelligent Camouflage – the future step for Saab Barracuda

Defence and security company Saab displays concepts of tomorrow's camouflage solutions at Eurosatory 2016 in Paris. Intelligent camouflage is one area that will be the game changer for future armed forces.

Barracuda, the signature management experts within Saab, is constantly working with research and development in order to introduce new products and solutions to secure that armed forces around the world stays undetected, no matter what happens. At Eurosatory 2016 Saab highlights new concepts within the field of intelligent camouflage to the attending audience.

“We are developing new ways of detecting incoming laser threats by integrating sensors and new technologies into our systems. Besides this, it is also important to develop camouflage solutions that has the potential to adopt to the surrounding environment”, says Magnus Gäfvert, head of marketing and sales at Saab Barracuda.

“Saab is today the world leader within signature management and we are constantly working on new ways of making our customers feel better protected in the field”, says Magnus Gäfvert.

Since 1957, Saab Barracuda has been at the forefront of designing and manufacturing innovative camouflage solutions for military applications and the story continues.
