New Book By Saab: A Journey Of Change In The Aircraft Industry

Defence and security company Saab is proudly presenting “A Journey of Change in the Aircraft Industry”, a book focusing on military aviation, the Gripen fighter aircraft system, and the operations of Saab business area Aeronautics.

During the years 2000 to 2015, Saab systematically and increasingly utilised change management to adapt the company to rapid and fundamental changes. At the same time, the company also worked to ensure its survival in an increasingly globalised and competitive market. Today, Saab is a world-leading manufacturer of advanced fighter aircraft systems and the new book aims to illustrate some important keys to success.

“With the Gripen programme Saab has developed a unique capacity to develop, produce and export highly competitive fighter aircraft at the very forefront of technology. With this book we wish to inspire others to initiate and conduct change management, regardless of organisational type“, says Ulf Nilsson, head of Saab business area Aeronautics.

The new book was launched at a press event in Linköping on Thursday 25 August. Please click here to access the book, which is available digitally only in both English and Swedish.
